

Threat Identification & Assessment Course

The Solution to a More Efficient and Effective Threat Assessment

The Threat Identification and Assessment Course provides law enforcement, fusion center, and homeland security professionals with the tools needed to properly identify, measure, and prioritize their threat groups. Whether it be street gangs, criminal enterprises, or terrorist organizations, this training is designed to make your agency more efficient and effective in addressing your top threats. A police agency or intelligence unit cannot sufficiently affect crime or terrorism if they do not first identify and assess the groups causing the problems. This course covers various threat assessment methodologies, all of which are designed to provide value to both the executive and operational level of an organization.

COURSE INFORMATION

- Taught by some of the leading experts in conducting threat assessments.
- Two days of classroom instruction to include presentations, practical examples, and in-class exercises.
- Restricted to police, fusion center, and homeland security professionals.
- Discounts are offered for organizations that host the course at their facility.

For more information email us at Info@ThreatPoint.net or visit our website at ThreatPoint.net